*O, Lord! O, Lord!
Compassionate and gracious God,
slow to anger,
abounding in love and faithfulness.
Shemot, 34:6*

יהוה, יהוה,
אל רחום וחנון,
ארך אפיים
ורב חסד ואמת.
שמות לד, ו

This month, we are supposed to be valuing the concept of freedom, tasting the matza during our Sedarim, our Passover dinners, remembering why our ancestors ate it on their way out of Egypt.

We can say we are people who valued individual liberties long before others even thought about them. We can say that we are a people who have valued freedom of expression, diversity of opinions, and discussions in favor of reaching agreeable understandings for more than 2,000 years. However, in the countries where the majority of Jews are living today, they are threatened by policies that hinder freedoms, question the division of state powers against respect for institutions and above all against the resolution of conflicts through open and frank discussions facing and negotiating positions.

Since there are threats in this sense in countries like the United States, where the Jewish people are not the majority, would that be only one reason to leave them out of this reflection? The answer is NO.

We know that American Jews play an influential and important part in areas that could twist or influence certain things so they do not happen. If we add this to the United States of America, a nation that has always been an example and safeguard of many of these principles, then it probably puts us on alert that something very bad is happening.

Of course, this is not just the case in America. Countries that once had moderate or progressive governments are dangerously inclined to a political conservatism (not to be confused with our Conservative Movement or Masorti) of the extreme right. This would be acceptable as long as, and as I mentioned before, the different existing freedoms are not violated.

Let's go to the important part of this crisis: Eretz Yisrael. Although we cannot say that it is Israel's political history that has had governments that were mainly left-wing, with a few exceptions, legality and institutionality were always present.

Even the coalition governments of the right ended up understanding those of the left and vice versa. In a country that lacks a constitution and where the law of the Torah overrides all State decisions, we must recognize that it has been an enormous effort to maintain and guarantee individual freedoms and the independence of state powers.

Beyond the dangers involved in manipulating state powers, as Benjamin Netanyahu's coalition claims, the facts that extremist minorities are behind these negotiations for the simple fact of being the ones that provide the majority for governability means that we are facing an institutional crisis that keeps Israeli society in chaos.

In the Babylonian Talmud, treatise on Sanhedrin page 23a we find the story of Rabbi Chanina ben Dosa, who served as a judge in the rabbinical court of his city. One day, he was summoned by King Herod Antipas to act as a judge in a dispute in his royal court. Rabbi Chanina ben Dosa refused to go, saying that he would only try cases in the rabbinical court where he could apply God's law without political interference.

King Herod was offended and ordered Rabbi Chanina ben Dosa to be forcibly taken to his court. When he got there, the king asked him how he dared to disobey his order. Rabbi Chanina ben Dosa replied that he was willing to face any punishment the king wanted to inflict upon him, but as a judge, he could only apply God's law, not the king's law.

Rabbi Chanina ben Dosa replied that he was willing to face any punishment the king wanted to inflict upon him, but as a judge, he could only apply God's law, not the king's law.

I want to share with you a quote from the Statement of the Conservative movement published last February regarding Israel's crisis:

“Alarm regarding these reforms is being expressed by large segments of Israeli society, including the legal and business communities, academia, Masorti communities, and hundreds of thousands of protesters in Israel's streets. Among the most worrying elements is the so-called “override clause” which would enable a simple majority of the Knesset to overrule Supreme Court decisions. This would eviscerate the already fragile balance of power between the branches of Israel's government.

Weakening Israel's highly regarded judicial system would undermine the message we have proudly and successfully promoted for decades around the world that Israel is both a Jewish AND a democratic state. With the mounting global disapproval of the proposed plan, moving forward risks serious economic, diplomatic and strategic consequences.

What can be done? We believe that now is the time to identify a better path forward that guarantees the rights of all Israelis and preserves the State of Israel as the Jewish and democratic nation-state of the Jewish people around the world.

In the words of Israel's President Isaac Herzog, “dramatic reform, when done quickly without negotiation, rouses opposition and deep concerns among the public... the absence of dialogue is tearing us apart from within.... This powder keg is about to explode. This is an emergency.” It is in this spirit that we support the President's call for freezing the entire legislative process in the Knesset and holding a dialogue between the government and opposition under his auspices.

We understand the extraordinary nature of a call by a global movement representing more than two million Diaspora Jews regarding an internal matter of the State of Israel. But our love for Israel compels us to action, just as it has in every past crisis the State of Israel has faced.

We call on all Jews worldwide to join us in making our voices heard at this historic juncture for Israel and the Jewish people as a whole. We are standing for and will always stand for a strong, vibrant and democratic State of Israel. Israel's future, resilience, and unity depend on it remaining Yehudit v'Democratit B'Dibur Echad - Jewish and democratic in one.”

For more than 2000 years it has been understood that one should not interfere with the powers of State. For more than 2,000 years we have known and studied the need to respect different opinions and accept differences. For more than 2000 years, we have revalued freedom and liberties year after year, remembering that we were not once free.

May this not be the year to forget it.

I wish each and everyone of us a “Pesach Kasher ve Sameach”, a happy and kosher kept Pesach; but above all, a Passover Holiday full of meaningful content that helps us change not only our lives and those of our neighbors, but part of our wonderful world.

Rabbi Gustavo Geier

Hello all!

We celebrated Purim 5783 with zeal! The Purim Party was a spectacular evening as you can see in the photos in this issue of the Temple Times. The night was full of fun, food and entertainment. Thank you to all the sponsors and the committee who created this successful event.

We travelled to Herkimer for a joint dinner and Megillah reading hosted by Temple Beth Joseph. We would like to thank our gracious hosts and look forward to future holidays to celebrate together.

The Bimah Buddies also celebrated Purim with Morah Keri and Rabbi Geier.

We hope to see you at the Sperling Holocaust Memorial Lecture at the JCC on April 18th at 7:30PM.

There will be an in person Yiskor Service on Thursday, April 13th at 9:30 AM.

Wishing everyone a Chag Pesach Semeach,

Marsha

We have some Hamantashen experts in the making!

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Friends,

What a wonderful Purim we celebrated together. Our dinner and party were enjoyed by everyone. The smile on everyone's face when they entered what was our main sanctuary for many years was a joy to see.

So many great costumes added to making it a real Purim atmosphere. The music by Don Brown really helped make for a very special occasion, everyone had no choice but to dance, listen with a big smile and enjoy the evening.

On April 5th at 6:45 PM we are having a Community Passover Seder that welcomes everyone. It is being held at the Jewish Community Center. It will be led by Rabbi Gustavo Geier of Temple Beth El and catered by Irwin's Fine Foods. This will be another very special gathering to share with friends and families that make up our Temple family.

This is my chance to wish the Temple and community a healthy and happy Passover, enjoy the lovely Seder and being with so many we don't often get to share such a special evening together. Stan joins me in wishing one and all another happy and delicious Seder. To me just that it is different than any of our holidays makes it special and doesn't come and go in one day. Let us all enjoy welcoming Spring and Passover.

Shalom,

Mundy

JEWTiCA

We're back! JEWTiCA – June 11, 2023

Mark your calendar right away for this year's version of JEWTiCA!, a Festival of Jewish Food and Culture.

This amazing festival takes place on the J.C.C. grounds from noon until 6 on SUNDAY, JUNE 11. Entertainment features Paul Shapiro's Ribs & Brisket Revue performing songs from Mrs. Maisel! This engaging band wowed them at "Yidstock!" last summer and we are thrilled to welcome them and their "Afro-Jewish Beat" to the Mohawk Valley.

You'll be able to wander the festival with an adult beverage from our "He'Brew Garden" or try an authentic egg cream. A range of Jewish favorites...from bagels to kosher dills...will tickle your taste buds. You'll even be able to make a virtual visit to the Western Wall and wrap tefillin. Learn how to cook Israel's favorite breakfast: shakshuka in our culinary demonstration tent. You'd better be here...missing this event would be a shanda! (a shame, in Yiddish)

The Annual Helen and Leon Sperling Holocaust Memorial Lecture

Tuesday, April 18, 2023
7:30 PM

Jewish Community Center
2310 Oneida Street, Utica

Our guest speaker will be Marione Ingram, a writer, artist and human rights activist. Born in Hamburg, Germany in the 30's, Mrs. Ingram lived within the Holocaust. She felt the terror and desperation as she watched family members and thousands of Hamburg Jews deported to killing sites. What is it like, and what does it do to the psyche of a young child? It is a haunting story with many lessons.

This annual program honors Helen and Leon Sperling, both Holocaust survivors. Helen has left an indelible mark on the thousands of New York students and adults who listened to her speak. The program also honors the memory of all those who were hunted down and perished during the period of the Holocaust.

During the evening the winners of the Holocaust Essay Contest, open to students in local middle and high schools will be announced.

We invite you to share this evening with us. The program is free and open to all. It is suitable for students in the 7th grade and up. Please join us.
