Message from Cantor Socolof

One of the things I enjoy about teaching our children, particularly the younger ones, is that they will say what is on their minds, not yet having learned the various methods of filtering. In a recent Hebrew School class, we were talking about the High Holiday services. One of my charges stated, "They're boring."

"Yes," I said, "I can understand that you might think so. Do you know why they are boring?"

My answer was a shake of the head.

"You consider services boring because there is all this stuff happening around you, but you are not part of it. You don't really know what's going on, and so it's not very interesting. When I go to services, I am not bored because for me, it's not stuff happening around me, it's something I am doing."

I suspect that the opinion stated by the child is not uncommon amongst some of her elders. How many people dutifully attend services every year, either out of obligation or to be in a familiar and comforting environment. Yet so many consider the service itself something happening on the bimah, rather than an event in which they are a participant? And the only reason I characterize this in terms of the High Holidays is because many who feel this way simply choose not to attend the weekly services for Shacharit or Shabbat.

Certainly, any of us can pray to God at any time, in any place. Why, then, do we have designated times and places for it? Human nature being what it is, we tend not to get around to certain things unless and until we have a designated time for them (think Spring cleaning). Having worship services at designated times helps us to remember to do this important task that we might otherwise just not get around to.

The nub of the matter is that many people are not comfortable in services, or do not find them enjoyable (so for the children, so for the adults). This can be rectified, but not easily. It involves work. For the children, this work can be done by their being brought to services somewhat regularly. As they are exposed to the service, they come to know it, and naturally become participants. For them, services can provide the comfort and familiarity of an old friend well into their adulthood. As for the adults, they must take the initiative on their own. Aside from attendance, they can pursue various means of learning more about the service, its structure, what the Hebrew is actually saying, and how it is meant to affect us.

In his book, This is My God, Herman Wouk mentions that one should not expect that every time one prays one will connect with the divine. But when it happens, he says, it more than makes up for the other times. I encourage you to come and attend one of our services throughout the year. If you have questions, by all means, ask them! If you have comments, make them. But please, start by showing up and joining us. You have nothing to lose but your boredom.

Temple Beth El President's Message

As we start this new year, I would like to thank all the people that have supported temple this past year. As I reached out for advice and help, no one declined to assist.

Thank you to all the congregants who took part, staff members at Temple Beth El and JCC employees for transforming the JCC auditorium into a warm and welcoming place to greet the New Year.

To our members who lained Torah and Cantor Fader, Elliot Rabin, Irwin Rosen and Larry Marks for leading during the services, thank you! A long shout out to Yevgenii for blowing the shofar in a spectacular manner. To Michael for the wrap up of the year's activities during the Yom Kippur Appeal and Mundy for our martyrology before the Yiskor Service, Todah Rabah. An appreciative thanks to our ushers for keeping the service running as smooth as possible.

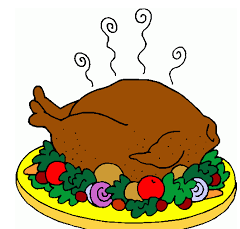

The students had a fun time decorating the Sukkah at Gan Kavod. Check out the photos in this issue of the Temple Times. They are looking forward to celebrating Chanukah once again with the residents at Sitrin.

Please make your reservation for the Men's Club Political Breakfast. This year's election will be a memorable event and our guest politicians will be on hand to answer questions.

Anyone wishing to check out temple's items that are stored at the Globe Mill please call the office.

As this whirlwind time of year winds down, reach out and help someone in need.

Shalom,
Marsha

Temple Beth El Executive Director's Message

We have just finished observing three of Judaism's holiest days, Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur at the Jewish Community Center. The weather was perfect, the aud at the Center looked warm and welcoming as we have come to expect. The flowers for Rosh Hashanah donated by Diane Wolfe in memory of Dorothy Smith and Wesley Smith and Ed Kowalsky and Family in memory of William Kowalsky were beautiful.

I thank all our members who helped to provide the lovely sanctuary at the Jewish Community Center, who took part in the comfortable and meaningful services led so warmly by Cantor Larry Fader and Elliot Rabin. The staff at the Jewish Community Center was most helpful, we thank them for their time and effort and look forward to next year.

I hope Sukkot and Simchas Torah were enjoyed by all. Have a good healthy New Year.

Shalom,
Mundy

SIMCHA BOARDS

Temple Beth El has Simcha Boards to celebrate birthdays, Bat and Bar Mitzvahs, anniversaries, graduations, weddings and honors.

If there is someone in your family or a friend you would like to recognize you do so by sending all the necessary details to the office. For $125.00 you can make someone proud and happy forever.

1st Annual Mah Jongg Tournament

On Sunday, September 25th, 24 Mah Jongg players came together at the JCC for breakfast, conversation and laughter followed by three rounds (12 games) of Mah Jongg. This was the inaugural Temple Emanu-El and Temple Beth El Sisterhood's Mah Jongg Tournament.

The winners were:

- 1st - Penny Moreno,
- 2nd - Lisa Schapiro
- 3rd - Mary Ann Nicoletta
- 4th - Lisa Philipson

The feedback was so positive that we have already chosen Sunday, October 15, 2017 for the next tournament. So, learn to play, play more and reserve that date on your calendar. Men are encouraged to learn to play and participate in the next tournament.

Much thanks to the Tournament Committee, the East's, the JCC and especially our own Rita Davan without whose help this event could not have happened. In addition thanks to local business for making our event such a success:

The JCC presents an

Evening with Helen Sperling

Wednesday, November 16th
7:00 PM

The JCC offers a special evening with Helen Sperling. In a two-hour video, Helen recalls her experiences during the holocaust.

For nearly 50 years, Helen Sperling---who died in 2015--- visited countless area schools to share her message: Thou shall not be a bystander. She wanted people to know that bullying is not new, and anyone can take a stand against it. If you've never had the opportunity to hear Helen speak or want to listen to her powerful story again, join the community for this memorable event.

Admission to this special program is free and open to the public. Donations to the Leon and Helen Sperling Holocaust Fund at the J.C.C. are welcome.
