Temple Beth El Cantor Message

I was listening to the TED Radio Hour on NPR, and heard a statement regarding the nature of time. The speaker posited that, just as the ocean exists, and the sand on the sea exists but the line between them is an illusion, so the past is real, and the future is real, but the present is just an illusion.

I had to think on this for a while, because it had seemed to me that just the opposite was true: the past exists in our memory and the future in our imagination, but the present moment is the only thing we truly have.

Then I remembered what I had always considered a quirk of Hebrew grammar: there are past and future conjugations for the word 'to be,' but no true present form. And lest you bring up God's statement to Moses at the burning bush (Exodus 3:14): "I am that I am," I must point out that this is a poor translation. The Hebrew, Eh'yeh asher Eh'yeh properly means "I will be that which I will be." In fact, the only instance of the use of a present tense for that verb I could think of is in the fourth line of Adon Olam.

Let me be clear: there certainly is a present tense in Hebrew. Those who speak or write the language use it frequently. It's just 'be' that is lacking. I consulted two different Hebrew-English/English-Hebrew dictionaries, and the Hebrew word offered for 'be' in both was hayah, which is the past form of the verb.

We all know that we travel through time from the past towards the future. Except in science fiction, we cannot go back. Albert Einstein's model of a relativistic universe resulted in space-time; a fusion of the two. It seems odd, then that we can travel in any direction in space, but only one direction in time.

One of the attributes of God is that He is outside of time. Thus, the passage of time is a human phenomenon, not a divine one. Why does this matter? It might help us address the question of free will and God's omniscience. How can God know what is going to happen if we truly have free will?

Perhaps an answer is that to God time is meaningless. God transcends time and space so that the distinctions of past, present and future, foundational to the human experience, are irrelevant. It might be likened to the difference between listening to a favorite album of music on vinyl or on digital media. On vinyl, the songs are in a set order which cannot be changed. In digital media, the listener is free to set the order of the songs as her or his whim dictates; all are equally accessible.

God's omniscience and our free will are not incompatible, as some argue. Making them so, however, requires thinking that is outside of much more than just the box.

Temple Beth El President's Message

Shalom,

Mazel Tov to Sophia Samoshuk and her family on becoming a Bat Mitzvah! Congratulations on doing a wonderful service both Friday and Saturday! Your studies and work with Cantor Socolof made you shine. It was a beautiful celebration.

Speaking for the members of Temple Beth El, the Samoshuk, Suvurov and Karyagin families have brought new life to our congregation. You fill the chapel on Shabbat morning with prayer and song. It is a wonderful sound to hear.

Four different congregations attended the "Jews In Film" presentation by Lois Silverman. The event was sponsored by Temple Emanu El's Education Committee and was very well attended. Lois shared her expertise with knowledge and humor. It is always a pleasure to see the community come together.

We will celebrate Purim on March 9th starting at 6:00pm with a supper and special event. The Megillah reading will follow. Please look for the flier in this issue of the Temple Times, get your costume ready and be sure to make your reservation. I hope to see you there!

Stay warm and healthy, Marsha

You may drop your Blue Box off at the JCC or Temple.

Thank you, Marsha

Temple Beth El Executive Director's Message

Hello,

We will observe Tu B'Shevat on Monday February 10th, the 15th of Shevat, also known as the New Year of the Trees.

Israel observes Tu B'Shevat with a beautiful ancient custom. On this holiday a tree is planted for each child born during the year – a cedar for a boy, a cypress for a girl. When the tree matures and the child marries, branches from their tree are used for their chuppah. Trees in our tradition are closely associated with birth and marriage. Our Torah is called "itz Chayem", a Tree of Life.

To observe this holiday enjoy fruits and nuts, or other Israeli products, you can also make a donation or purchase a tree from JNF (the Jewish National Fund).

It has been a time of many emotions. May our good memories help us to smile and may our year be healthy and productive.

Shalom, Mundy

Cemetery News

We were all saddened with the loss of a great leader in our community. Yes I'm talking about Michael Silverman. Michael was a guiding force among others in the Temple Beth El and Cemetery Corporations. His leadership skills "DOTTING I's and CROSSING T's" and the love of doing the job that satisfied him from the top of his head to the tip of his toes.

Michael was my cousin and a very good friend, I/we will miss you Michael.

The Cemetery Committee is happy to announce the appointment of Shelly Bartnick to our list of Trustees. We look forward to working with Shelly and his sense of humor.

All things will continue as usual. If you have questions about the Cemeteries please feel free to contact any of the Trustees. Mark Smith
